For some time it has been vacant, awaiting any renter that felt in-clined to go into it. A few days ago the proprietor came along and found it occupied by "Perley" Varmatty, who had been been by "Pegleg" Varnatta, who had broken into it in the night and carried his household pos-sess ons with him and deposited them there without the knowledge or consent of the owner. Officers were called upon to eject the intruder, but declined to interfere, and yesterday Snodderly took the law into his own hands and threw the old man, out bodily and his goods after him. There were sympathizers on both sides and there was considerable interest awakened for a while.

Decorating for the Farm 'rs-Are Lawyers' Fees Costs?-Opening of the Deaf and Dumb Institute - . Minor Mention.

T. J. Evans has been so much of the time at the front in connection with the building of the Broadway bridge and the construction of the motor line that it was with some surprise that the public first learned that there was a rupture between him and the company, His injunction against the issuing of passes was the first outward break, but that was viewed with suspicion by some, who fancled that he was acting perhaps in the interests of the company, who wanted some excuse for reducing their free list. Now comes another suit, which cannot well be accounted for by any such functful theories of there being an underground understanding. It is a straight suit for $.0,000 for services rendered. In his petition Mr. Evans recities that these services were rendered in 1886, 1887 and 1888, and consisted of a great variety. Among the classes of services named as having been performed by him for the company are services rendered by him in making surare services rendered by him in making surveys and soundings for the bridge site; soliciting petitions signed by citizens of Council Bluffs calling a special election to vote the 12 mill tax as a bonus to the company; conducting the election so as to secare a majority vote therefore; attending meetings of the city council and securing franchises, and the passage of ordinances, paving resolutions, establishing grades, opening streets, etc., favorable to the company, and in its interest; attending meetings of the Omaha city council and conversions that city to obtain a franchise belong meetings of the Omina tracelines and convassing that city to obtain a franchise on Douglas street; going to and from Washington and securing the passage of a law authorizing the building of the bridge; directing surveys a mile above and a mile below the bridge site; ob-taining the approval of the chief engineer of the government; in making various trips to the war department on the same mission; ar-ranging specifications for bids; corresponding with bridge builders and making awards; purchasing material, directing grading, fill-ing etc.; investigating various systems in different cities in the country; making valuable purchases of land, and securing donations of real estate. The case when pressed to trial must naturally call out some interesting facts concerning the history of the motor company.

Look After the Horse Trad -rs.

At the present time there are no less than thirteen distinct outfits of horse traders in the city. They are composed of the gipsyladrone class of the cosmopolitan population of the country and depend upon the basiness for a livelihood. Their outfits are in keeping with the character of the men, women, children, dogs and fleas that compose them, and some of the boniest, most distressingly pitiful objects that were ever designated as horses are dragged around over the country with them. Every day the spectacle of a lot of old horses and nutes, lame, blind, spavined and suffering from every disease that equine flesh is hear to, being dragged through the streets at the end of one or more wagons that are ready to fall to pieces, drawn by horses harnessed with ropes and straps, is presented to the public. The pity and indignation that the sight awakens might not call for any rellef, but the fact should be taken into account that these people are traveling over the country and scattering contagious discases wherever they go. There bave been at least a dozen glandered horses brought into the city by this means in the last few days, and they have been permitted to roun around over the town at will. One of them was found in a dving condition a short time ago and taken to the city pound and shot. Since then a number of other poor beasts have been found wandering around on the outtoms, all suffering from the dreadful becase and some of them in the last stages of it. All of these animals were brought into it. All of these animals were brought have the city by these games of itherant horse traders, and when they discovered the poor beasts to be suffering from the highly danger-one disease they turned them loose ous disease they turned them loose and went away and left them. Man as well as his four-footed friends has been proven to be susceptible to this contagious disease, and it is a matter of more than ordinary concern to have the peo-ole who are spreading it looked after.

There were five of the outlits camped in the lower part of the city yesterday and all of them should be prosecuted for cruelty to animals for attempting to take such poor, starved, distorted brutes through the country. It would certainly create a very unfavorable impression if a procession of them should wand their painful way up Broadway during the farmers' congress. The delegates would think Pottawattamie was in the last year of a seven years' famine.

One of the handsomest planes in the city has just been placed in the parlors of the new Pacific hotel and has added a great deal to the attractions of that popular hestelry. The mstrument is one of the famous Bush & Gerts upright grand, with English walnut case and the finest of the $500 style. The instrument was purchased by the hotel people after a careful examination and was fur-nished by the Council Bluffs music company after an active competition between local and outside dealers.

Are Lawyers' Fees Costs? Some time ago David Gray was prosecuted inder the prohibition law and fined, but gubernatorial elemency interfered in his behalf, and the fine was remitted on condition that he should pay the costs. In settling the costs there arose the question as to whether the fee allowed by law to the prosecuting atthe fee allowed by law to the prosecuting atterney in such cases should be counted in as a part of the costs. Gray bore no great love for Attorney Sims, who prosecuted the case, and naturally sided with the opinion that the lawyer's fees were not a part of the costs in the meaning of the law. Now Mr. Sims has commenced a suit against Mr. Gray for $50, the amount of his fees. Gray says that the suit is brought because he insists on letting.

Salt Water Cures Blindness. Prof. A. H. List, a well known blind planist of Braddock, has just returned home from a visit to Atlantic City, says the Pittsburg Times. While on his way there he stopped at Philadelphia and FOR SALE-Horse, buggy and barness at a bargain. Johnston & Van Patten, Everett consulted an eye physician, who told him to bathe his eyes in the sea water. Before List went to the seashore he was unable to distinguish day from night, but while there he followed the physician's advice, and since his return home he says he can distinguish moving ob jects, such as persons and vehicles. can tell plainly when near a house, the sort of a light burning in a room and the various heights of persons when standing closely together. List is about thirty-two years of age. When he came to Braddock, three years ago, he was blind and pronounced incurable. lost his sight by being struck in the left eye by a see-saw. It is expected by the physicians that he will regain the use of his right eye without any further opera-

Telling Time by Flowers. There is not an hour of the day that is not the beloved hour of some blossom, says the Detroit Free Press. Linnaus, the celebrated botanist, conceived the pleasant notion of a flower clock. In-stead of a rude metal bell to thump the hour, there is a little flower bell ready to open at 3 o'clock, a flower star that will shine forth at 4, and a flower cup, perhaps, will appear at 5 o'clock to re-mind old-fashioned folk that it is near tea time. Claude Lorraine, although he did not, like Linnaus, make a clock of four-and-twenty flowers in his garden, was a landscape painter most familiar with nature, and when he was abroad he could at any time know what o'clock it was by asking the time of the flowers

Taking Chances With Death. Considering all that has been written and published this year about sunstroke and the danger that arises from a dry, non-perspiring skin, it is really amazing how many people call for preparations to prevent perspiration, says a St. Louis druggist. There are several of these and they are all effective, the main ingredient in each being the same. The effect is not only to stop perspiration wherever the preparation is applied, but also to increase the temperature several degrees and seriously injure the skin. Ladies, of course, use such complexion preserves more than men, but there are not wanting young men, who, to keep up a spotless appearance, will subject themselves to annoyance and take dangerous chances. The only legitimate manner to check perspiration is to keep quiet and avoid excessive exercise.

The Astor Mannerisms.

The Astor have a peculiar manner of their own by which all the male mem-bers of the family can be recognized says a New York letter to the Richmond Times. They have all prominent browand an absorbed, thoughtful look that is far from genial. John Jacob Astor ponderous solemnity conveyed an enirely wrong estimate of his character. People who had never seen him smile were always a little afraid of him, William Waldorf, from constant association with his father, grew to have his manner. With his solemn mien no one would recognize the politician and diplomat who represented his country in Italy.

Waiters of High Lineage.

There is a saloonkeeper near Ninth and Walnut who has had half a dozen poverty stricken sons of noble German families employed as waiters in his hotse, says the Cincinnate Commercial Gazette. An alleged "Count" or two. a couple of sons of German "Barons," wearing white aprons and watchful for the cry. "Zwei Bier," have been leatures of the saloon for the past year. A patron of the place says that the proprietor was a republican in the Fatherland, and that he have land, and that he takes pleasure in hav-ing the descendants of his old oppressors serve him in mental capacities.

A clerical scandal is now convulsing Milford, Mass., and vicinity, according to a dispatch to the St. Louis Republic. On a recent Saturday evening a young divinity student, in temporary charge of a wealthy parish near here, rode through Milford beisterously drunk, claiming to se a "cowboy," etc., and wound up by dashing over a private lawn on Congress street and crashing into a fence and wrecking it. He was rendered insensible and lay there for some time. He was afterwards taken to a hotel and found to e unhust. Early Sunday morning he quietly stole home and preached a sermon as usual and conducted two funeral services. There is intense disgust about the matter in the parish under his charge. He was compelled to leave there without ceremony. On the pre-vious evening a Springhetd applicant for the vacant high school principalship poiled his chances by appearing in pubin an intoxicated condition.

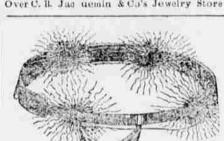

RESTORED HER HEALTH. For 25 years I suffered from boils, erysipelas and other blood affections, taking during that time great quantities of different medicines without giving me any perceptible relief. Friends induced me to try S. S. S. It improved me from the start, and after taking several bottles, restered my health as far as I could hope for a. my age, which is now seventy-five years.
